

Look at What I Accomplished

Making lists is a life skill that is helpful for remembering all that needs to be done, particularly for people who have difficulty with time management and organization. Add this list to your daily agenda or journal to help keep focused on your accomplishments and goals.

My Long-Term Goal: _____

What I Have Accomplished So Far: _____
